DEFEATED 64-58 WHEN SOUGHT TO PUT SPECIAL ORDER

HOUSE, IN REFRACTORY MOOD,
TEARS TO PIECES MOTOR VE-HICLE TAX BILL

SENATE STANDS FIRM AND IS EXPECTED TO PASS $20,000,-
000 BOND ISSUE

St. Paul, April 10.—When the house got through with the Babcock highway plan last night, no one seemed to know exactly where it stood but almost everyone thought it was dead.

Consideration of the $20,000,000 bond issue measure was blocked for today. An effort was made to have it come up on special order this morning, but the proponents were defeated 64 to 58.

The house also tore to pieces the motor vehicle tax measure. So many amendments were tacked to it that members are now in doubt as to what the bill exactly provides. It is feared that out of the jumble the income of the highway department will be cut about $1,000,000 which would seriously impede the annual highway work unless the legislature takes some measure for providing for improvements.

The bill codifying state highway laws governing the use of records was also ditched by the legislature when members found that there was a possibility of the law removing the old home town right to fix speed limits and regulate traffic.

In spite of the ruction in the house, the senate was expected to pass the $20,000,000 bond issue measure today. This would have a steady effect in the house it was believed. Members who voted against putting Babcock's proposal on special orders today might change their mind and vote for it, friends of the highway department suggested.

Brainerd Gets Busy

Brainerd people got busy as soon as they heard of the treatment accorded the Babcock bill.

Protests were wired by R. R. Wise, president of the 10,000 Lakes Association; by the Civic and Commerce Association and many other associations.

Brainerd, Crow Wing county and many villages of the county had only recently adopted resolutions commending the Babcock bond bill and everybody supposed there would be but little opposition shown the plan.

16 CHARGED WITH COMPLICITY IN SALT

Minneapolis, April 10.—Sixteen persons charged with complicity in the sale of securities stolen from the mails in New York and Chicago will base their defense on the contention that they did not know the bonds were stolen.

This was indicated in federal court today as defense attorneys questioned prospective jurors.

Eight jurymen were drawn before the court recessed until tomorrow. Judge J. F. McGee emphatically charged the jurors to say nothing to anyone regarding the case, and stated that if anyone approached them in regard to the case, they should report immediately to the court. The prosecution has brought 60 witnesses here from New York and Chicago to testify in the cases. Defendants are charged with disposing of much of the loot of the $2,000,000 mail truck robbery in New York and the Dearborn station mail robbery in Chicago.

Some of the defendants are also charged with disposing of securities stolen in bank robberies in Cincinnati.

The United States district attorney is attempting to follow the handling of the securities from the day of the robberies down to the present time.

Some of the defendants were indicted a second time recently, charged with having attempted to dispose of additional loot since they were indicted last fall.

GOVERNOR PREUS DECLINES TO HEAD A MOVEMENT TO RESTRICT WHEAT ACREAGE; WILL NOT CALL A GOVERNORS' CONFERENCE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 10.—Governor J. A. O. Preus has declined to head a movement to restrict wheat acreage. He will not call a conference of governors of wheat producing states to discuss the problem.

The best solution of the present agricultural situation is cooperative marketing on a large scale and regulation of production by agreements among the farmers themselves, he told the United Press.

The governor has been asked by nationally influential men and by one of the most influential publications in the country to call a conference of governors to discuss restriction of wheat acreage. The governor was advised by agriculturists and is determined against this course.

It was pointed out that an attempt to restrict corn acreage a few years ago resulted in an increased production.

"If we attempt to restrict wheat acreage, it is human nature for this farmer and that farmer to say to himself that since his neighbors are going to cut down on wheat, he will plant all he can and make a lot of money. They would all do the same thing and as a result there is an over production" one of his advisors told the governor.

The governor was also advised against price fixing proposals because of the disastrous effect of price fixing during the war period.

"I believe that the best solution of the agricultural problem is the right kind of cooperative marketing," said the chief executive.

"It is the best solution and will enable the farmers to regulate production to a large extent by agreements among themselves."

It was learned from other sources today that one of the biggest farmers organizations in the country will soon announce important steps toward development of cooperative marketing among grain growers and live stock producers of the middle west. The first step will be announcement of the employment of one of the best known cooperative organizers in the country. This man has recently toured the midwest and east making a study of agricultural conditions.

ADRENALIN MAY STAY DEATH IN SHOCK CASES

TOO MUCH CANNOT BE EXPECTED.
WILL NOT "RESURRECT
THE DEAD"

DR. MEYER, CHIEF SURGEON OF
COOK COUNTY HOSPITAL, IN STATEMENT

(By United Press)
Chicago, April 10.—Adrenalin, a fluid extracted from glands controlling emotions of fear, stay death in shock cases as the victim's heart stops beating, but will not "resurrect the dead" Dr. Karl A. Meyer, chief surgeon of Cook county hospital declared today in explaining the use of the newly disclosed medical discovery.

After extensive experiments and use of the adrenal method, declared to have been brought to its present usefulness by experiments of Dr. G. W. Crile of Cleveland and Dr. Denis W. Crile, Chicago, Dr. Meyer told the United Press just what the public and medical science can expect from it. He said:

"Adrenalin is a preventative of death where the things that caused death is removed within six to eight minutes after the heart stops beating. In this interval a patient may be pronounced dead, but the brain and other cells are not dead and the state of death is not complete.

"If injected into the heart or the veins as the heart is about to stop or has ceased beating less than the time required for brain and other cells to die, the adrenalin acts instantly as a powerful stimulant and a contraction. In so-called shock cases the heart starts beating again and the patient resumes living, providing conditions are right.

"If the heart has ceased to beat six or eight minutes and the brain and other cells die, and although adrenalin may cause the heart to beat again briefly, the patient cannot live because death exists.

"Adrenalin is not an exactly new drug. It was used in the war hospitals and in stages of its development has been used in hospitals for some time. I understand the experiments conducted by the Drs. Crile have done much to develop the method to its present perfection."

PRESIDENT HARDING MAY CANCEL TRIP

Washington, April 10.—President Harding will abandon his plans for a trip across the country and to Alaska this summer if the country persists in regarding the trip as a campaign for election in 1924. It was declared at the White House. The president, it was said regrets the political interpretation that has been placed upon his proposed continental trip. He is said to feel that now is not a fitting time for him to appear to be campaigning in the interests of re-election.

COOPERATION IN MARKETING WILL KILL SPECULATION

STATEMENT MADE BY JAMES R.
MANAHAN AT ST. PAUL CON-FERENCE

URGED COOPERATIVE ASSOCIA-TIONS TO WORK FOR GOOD OF FARMER

Fargo, N. D., April 10.—Cooperative marketing of grain by farmers will eventually wipe out speculation, James R. Manahan, St. Paul, told a conference of heads of cooperative organizations of the northwest here today.

He urged the various cooperative organizations to submerge jealousies "for the good of the farmer". Four big cooperative selling organizations, the farm bureau federations of Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana and the farmers union of Iowa were represented by about sixty delegates.

The conference was called by J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota farm bureau federation.

George C. Jewett, of the northwest wheat growers, urged a combination of all the interests represented in a single movement to help the farmer market his grain cooperatively.

"A combination of forces represented here would control sufficient grain to regulate prices" he said.

Many of the delegates seconded the suggestion of Mr. Manahan that eventually the cooperative movement would evolve the farmers grain exchanges. Most of the delegates seemed to be of a mind that the present marketing facilities should be maintained, but that the farmers should combine on one gigantic cooperative selling plan. The conference was getting down to business this afternoon.

TODAY

(By United Press)
Chicago, April 10.—Two men were killed and three buildings bombed in a black hand reign of terror here today.

Stanley King, believed to have been an innocent victim, was killed when a bomb was hurled from an auto at the apartment building in which he was living, as he was about to enter.

King's bride, who was waiting for her husband to return from work, ran to the street as the neighborhood was shaken, crying "I knew it" and collapsed unconscious.

Joseph Polumba, 45, an Italian was shot to death on the streets of "Little Italy" today. Two men walked up to him and fired three shots each into his body and fled. Police blame "blackhanders", for the shooting as well as the series of bombings.

Italians owned or were occupants of all buildings damaged and police announced they did not believe the explosion had anything to do with three recent similar blasts attributed to enemies of the Ku Klux Klan.

COLD BLOODED MURDER DONE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 10.—Frank Rotano arrested in connection with the murder of Louis Rottach early today told police he was given $5.00 by Rottach's wife to do the shooting.

"She gave me $5.00 and left the door open so I could get in," Rotana told detectives.

Rottach was killed about 3 a. m. His wife and a three year old child were in bed with him when the shooting took place.

Rotana was found in bed at his home in Minneapolis. Police found his pistol with two empty shells. Detectives said he fired one shot in the alley to try out the gun. The other was fired into Rottach's head as he slept.

Police said Rotano declared Mrs. Rottach gave him $5.00 to buy the gun.

Joe Marks, 13, a step child of Rottach's had heard the shot and looked out of the window. He told police he saw a man running away who looked like Rotano. He said Rotano had been a constant visitor at his mother's, according to police.

STINNES AND WIFE ARE ARRESTED

Berlin, April 10.—Hugo Stinnes and his wife were taken by French troops from the industrialists sleeping car attached to a train at Scharnhoist and were placed under temporary arrest in a freight car early today.

Later the Stinnes were released. Many arrests were effected throughout the new and old occupied areas by the French today on the occasion of nation wide funeral for the Krupp victims.

Former Minister Ciesberts and Stegerwald were taken into custody. State Secretary Hamm of the Chancellery was thrown into jail.

The prisoner took the fatal leap so quickly that the guard who unlocked his cell door did not know what had happened until he heard the cries of guards below at whose feet the body had fallen.

There are thirty-five cells on the upper tier where Hawkes was confined. In the morning a guard passes along and unlocks each door. GRAIN YIELD MAY STILL BE NORMAL, IS FORECAST MADE

IN SPITE OF HANDICAP OF LATE PLANTING SEASON, THE DROUGHT, ETC.

LYMAN WEST, CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE STATISTICIAN, MAKES STATEMENT

(By United Press)
Chicago, April 10.—America's grain production this year may still be normal despite the late planting season, drought, labor shortage and other handicaps. The situation is not serious in the opinion of the best informed sources in Chicago, the country's agricultural capitol.

Lyman West, statistician for the Chicago board of trade and noted authority declared there is yet plenty of time for spring wheat planting and for winter wheat to develop.

West regards the bullishness of the market and pessimistic reports from quarters as the usual "seasonal weather scare".

He called attention to the fact that reports of drought from the southwest, late winter for the northwest—the spring wheat sections and chin and green bug scares from Indiana, Illinois, Oklahoma and Texas are seasonal events.

The Chicago statistician gave the visible supply of American wheat at 2,356,000 bushels today as compared with 2,456,000 bushel last year.

The invisible supply may bring the total this year down to a little less than last. Experts also pointed out that government's estimated supply of winter wheat production is 572,317,000 bushel, only a little less than last year and more than the average.

Along with the reports of drought and late winter in the wheat belt, came more significant reports that farmers are planning to reduce acreage of spring wheat in the northwest because of the low price which has steadily fallen in the last three years.

H. W. Moorehouse, director of research for the American farm bureau federation said he had received such reports from officials of the northwestern wheat growers and individual farmers.

"I am not in the least bullish on wheat prices," said West. "There is yet plenty of time for a crop, and I can foresee no shortage."

West in pointing out that the storage supply is near normal declared also that there is 9,844,000 bushel of Canadian wheat in the United States, against 3,599,000 bushel last year.

Most experts said the labor situation was admittedly bad, but added that it would fit in with plans of farmers to reduce acreage and attempt a diversification of crops.

TOURIST PARK TO BE MADE BEST IN THE LAKE REGION

AT MEETING WEDNESDAY A. J.
HAYES SPEAKS ON "MAKING
STRANGERS FEEL AT HOME"

R. R. WISE, HEAD OF 10,000
LAKES, TO TELL OF TOURIST
RUSH COMING

The Brainerd Civic & Commerce association has had new pep injected into it under the direction of H. P. Dunn. The association has responded to his masterful leadership and concrete results are appearing daily.

He named the committee to start the campaign to raise $2,500 to put the White Tourist Park in proper shape to greet the tourists in the big wave of visitors due to arrive as soon as spring roads get in proper shape. All winter the army of motorists has been reading lake literature, studying maps and figuring on a night control or several days stay at Brainerd.

"And when they come," said W. H. Cleary, chairman of the campaign committee for a greater and better tourist park "we want to be ready to offer them the advantages of the best park in the lake region. We want them to feel at home here."

Improvements Planned
The improvement planned range from gas ranges to a pavilion, from shower baths to a caretaker in charge.

The committee soliciting the funds is composed of W. H. Cleary, chairman, and H. P. Dunn, Carl Wright and Walter M. Murphy.

Carl Wright has the plans and specifications and at the association meeting Wednesday evening will explain them in detail.

A. J. Hayes to Speak

A. J. Hayes, who has developed into one of the best extemporaneous speakers, due to Rotary experience, will speak on "How We Can Make the Stranger Feel at Home". Mr. Hayes has done much touring, he has had experiences while traveling and he can make a plea for the stranger and convince Brainerd people that the right kind of a reception is worth thousands of dollars to a town.

10,000 Lakes

R. R. Wise, head of the 10,000 Lakes Association and back from sessions of the legislature where the utility of the association was thoroughly discussed, will tell what the state thinks of this association and how it has won commendation from all parts of this great commonwealth.

Mr. Wise will tell of the influx of tourists expected and has computed in dollars and cents just what this wave means to this section.

Membership Committee

The membership committee of the Association has an interesting report to make. That of the fire investigation committee is also awaited with interest.

Molders Committee

A committee of the molders will appear at the meeting to present matters relating to their craft.

Editorial Convention

The Northern Minnesota Editorial Association convention will gather in Brainerd this summer and A. G. Rutledge, secretary, has been wired to write a story on what's expected of Brainerd, how many are coming, so that proper preparations can be made for this body of illustrious men and women, the molders of thought and opinion, people who take ink and machinery and make it talk.

Re-joining the Association

A steady influx of Brainerd men is re-joining the Association, dues are flowing in and under President Dunn's leadership the Association's course is being mapped out in excellent manner.

Stillwater, April 10.—A life sentence in the state prison was terminated abruptly Sunday morning when Raymond Hawkes, convicted of murder, killed himself by jumping twenty-five feet from the fourth tier of cells.

To frustrate his designs to evade the law through death guards refused to allow him to shave and great care was taken to see that he obtained no weapons.

Preus feels that a minimum wage law is a necessity.

If the Minnesota statute is affected by the decision of the United States supreme court in holding the District of Columbia law unconstitutional, the governor will insist that the Minnesota law be made constitutionally whole.

"I have always favored the Minnesota minimum wage law," said the chief executive. "If the Minnesota law is found to be unconstitutional as it now stands, I would favor a bill in this session of the legislature to make it conform to the constitution and still give necessary protection to women and children workers."

Lyman West, statistician for the Chicago board of trade and noted authority declared there is yet plenty of time for spring wheat planting and for winter wheat to develop.

West regards the bullishness of the market and pessimistic reports from quarters as the usual "seasonal weather scare".

He called attention to the fact that reports of drought from the southwest, late winter for the northwest—the spring wheat sections and chinch and green bug scares from Indiana, Illinois, Oklahoma and Texas are seasonal events.

The Chicago statistician gave the visible supply of American wheat at 2,356,900 bushels today as compared with 2,456,000 bushels last year.

The invisible supply may bring the total this year down to a little less than last. Experts also pointed out that government's estimated supply of winter wheat production is 572,317,000 bushel, only a little less than last year and more than the average.

Along with the reports of drought and late winter in the wheat belt, came more significant reports that farmers are planning to reduce acreage of spring wheat in the northwest because of the low price which has steadily fallen in the last three years.

H. W. Moorehouse, director of research for the American farm bureau federation said he had received such reports from officials of the northwestern wheat growers and individual farmers.

"I am not in the least bullish on wheat prices," said West. "There is yet plenty of time for a crop, and I can foresee no shortage."

West in pointing out that the storage supply is near normal declared also that there is 9,844,000 bushel of Canadian wheat in the United States, against 3,699,000 bushels last year.

Most experts said the labor situation was admittedly bad, but added that it would fit in with plans of farmers to reduce acreage and attempt a diversification of crops.

TOURIST PARK TO BE MADE BEST IN THE LAKE REGION

AT MEETING WEDNESDAY A. J.
HAYES SPEAKS ON "MAKING
STRANGERS FEEL AT HOME"

R. R. WISE, HEAD OF 10,000
LAKES, TO TELL OF TOURIST
RUSH COMING

The Brainerd Civic & Commerce association has had new pep injected into it under the direction of H. P. Dunn. The association has responded to his masterful leadership and concrete results are appearing daily.

He named the committee to start the campaign to raise $2,500 to put the White Tourist Park in proper shape to greet the tourists in the big wave of visitors due to arrive as soon as spring roads get in proper shape. All winter the army of motorists has been reading lake literature, studying maps and figuring on a night control or several days stay at Brainerd.

"And when they come," said W. H. Cleary, chairman of the campaign committee for a greater and better tourist park "we want to be ready to offer them the advantages of the best park in the lake region. We want them to feel at home here."

Improvements Planned
The improvement planned range from gas ranges to a pavilion, from shower baths to a caretaker in charge.

The committee soliciting the funds is composed of W. H. Cleary, chairman, and H. P. Dunn, Carl Wright and Walter M. Murphy.

Carl Wright has the plans and specifications and at the association meeting Wednesday evening will explain them in detail.

A. J. Hayes to Speak
A. J. Hayes, who has developed into one of the best extemporaneous speakers, due to Rotary experience, will speak on "How We Can Make the Stranger Feel at Home". Mr. Hayes has done much touring, he has had experiences while traveling and he can make a plea for the stranger and convince Brainerd people that the right kind of a reception is worth thousands of dollars to a town.

10,000 Lakes
R. R. Wise, head of the 10,000 Lakes Association and back from sessions of the legislature where the utility of the association was thoroughly discussed, will tell what the state thinks of this association and how it has won commendation from all parts of this great commonwealth.

Mr. Wise will tell of the influx of tourists expected and has computed in dollars and cents just what this wave means to this section.

Membership Committee
The membership committee of the Association has an interesting report to make. That of the fire investigation committee is also awaited with interest.

Molders Committee
A committee of the molders will appear at the meeting to present matters relating to their craft.

Editorial Convention
The Northern Minnesota Editorial Association convention will gather in Brainerd this summer and A. G. Rutledge, secretary, has been wired to write a story on what's expected of Brainerd, how many are coming, so that proper preparations can be made for this body of illustrious men and women, the molders of thought and opinion, people who take ink and machinery and make it talk.

Re-joining the Association
A steady influx of Brainerd men is re-joining the Association, dues are flowing in and under President Dunn's leadership the Association's course is being mapped out in excellent manner.

This is true reasoning. Let us prove it to you on that next pair of shoes you buy.

OBERST & DURHAM

This is the most serious case of sabotage yet reported on the Ruhr waterways. The lock that was destroyed is near the junction of the Dortmund-Ems canal with the main canal that runs down to the Rhine at Duisburg and Rudrort, where the largest inland water port in the world is located.

The intention of the dynamiters apparently was not only to block the canal but to drain the water from the main Rhine-Herne canal, which is the main waterway artery of the Ruhr.

The Dortmund-Ems canal, itself an important waterway, is blocked by the destruction of the lock. Guards have been placed at all junctions and locks as a measure for prevention of further damage.

THE COSTUMING WAS SUPERB

Second Half of School Entertainment
Was a Burlesque from Shakespeare's
Midsummer Night's Dream

Oh, to be a child again! Last night some fifty little folks appeared before the footlights and kept a full house smiling and gently chuckling. "Isn't she darling?" "What an adorable child," and "What a sweet voice," were remarks exchanged everywhere. Friends and parents exchanged pleased glances whenever some child did especially well.

The occasion was "Jack and the Beanstalk," the general effect and the costuming was exceptionally good, from the little peeping chickens with their yellow legs to the dashing chorus of bean boys, who showed a vim and a swash buckling air that brought down the house for an encore. Space forbids, personal mention, but every parent can be proud of the performance. The children sang with a sweetness and so well that it was very obvious that they had excellent training and were giving their very best.

To mention a few soloists, Jack, of course, was the big man, and as played by Hans Pflock was very well done, both for voice and interpretation of the part. He put himself so thoroughly into the part that all the details were carried out faithfully.

Next to Jack was the fairy queen, who presented as pretty a picture as could be asked for, and carried out her part with a charm of manner and of voice that was most pleasing for so young a child. Her songs were exceptionally well done. This was Mildred Johnson.

Then a very little boy, Francis McCullough, sang a very big song very well, "I am big, and I am strong." Lucille Erickson sang exceptionally well a very charming little song, "Oh, Happy Home."

Geraldine Anderson had a solo part in her song, "My basket I shall fill with flowers," when the song was as pretty as the basket; Opal Brooks and Olga Tange sang a very pretty duet. These were the children.

The giant, W. Zakariasen, was a most horrible and forbidding giant, as he strode across the stage in his high boots and black beard. Theresse Emilson as his wife was very appropriately clad and had an excellent handling of her part both from the dramatic and musical viewpoint, as did also Maysie Charmichael, who played the part of the mother.

The credit for this part of the evening is given entirely to Miss Opsahl and Miss Oberg.

Burlesque from Shakespeare
The second half was a burlesque from Shakespeare's "Midsummer Nights Dream," where some Athenian workmen present a play before the duke. This was worked out with a carefulness to detail that made it a most successful play.

The star and the best actor was "Bully Bottom," as played by Walter Herman, who strutted across the stage and did remarkably well, even down to his most tragic death, where he refused to die until his body was comfortable.

His lady love, George Orth, was good from his psyche knot and grown of orange to his squeaky falsetto voice. The lion was a very facetious lion, in the person of Ralph Herbert, who was the villain of the drama. The house was brought down by Lloyd Jones, who sewed industriously until the lion frightened him, when even his hair forsook him.

The wall was exceedingly dignified, a tribute to the self control of Charles Hoffman, for how many could forbear to smile when two ridiculous lovers kiss each other through fingers?

The business manager was very efficient, in the person of Arthur Johnston, who was really very good. The audience for this most diverting drama was composed of nobles from the court of Theseus, who was represented by Lyle Northrup, who strode across the stage in kingly fashion in his royal robes of gold and red. His voice and bearing were very much in keeping with his part and well done. His queen was Lucille Nolan, in flowing silk and crown of gold, bared to extinction by the crude drama.

Virgil Quastrom was correctly costumed, and be-wigged and looked most charming as he sat beside his lady, Helen Buscher. The four, with Ralph Linberg, in their beautiful costumes and glowing colors, made a most effective picture for the costumes of the workmen, and acted their parts well.

The costumes were very appropriate. The success of the play was due to the hard work of the cast and the coaching of Mr. White.

ENTERTAINMENT A SUCCESS

Given in Three Parts at the First Congregational Church on Thursday Evening

The entertainment at the First Congregational church last Thursday was a great success. It was in three parts—the first a shadow picture, a wonderful laugh producer. Dorothy Harris recited a poem about the lovers of Mabel, who scorned the prosaic Albert, but yearned for the poetic Charles. He later forsakes her whenever danger threatens, and on his wedding day does not arrive because he is not in the mood to be married. When Mabel sees him walking with another girl, she flees to the shelter of Albert's love, and marries him.

The Cast

Here is the cast:
Mabel Winifred Spencer
Her mother Adele Congdon
Her lovers Charles Hoffman, George Harris

Her minister Lloyd Jones
Her rival Elizabeth Johnston
The dog Lloyd Jones

Charming Costumes

Six little girls in most charming costumes and powdered hair sang two songs, one of long ago and one about "Grandmother's Knitting." The sedate grandma was Helen Bane, while the chorus was composed of Freda Errington, Helen and Katherine Sheets, Jane Wilson and Glenadean Mahood.

Box and Cox

The largest part of the evening was the presentation of "Box and Cox," that classic of the stage, by Lloyd Jones, Charles Hoffman and Dorothy Harris. It was exceedingly well done, with fine individual interpretation. The varied shifts of mood, the sudden changes of feeling, were indications of more than average ability. The audience was in a state of continued chuckling at the cleverness of the performance. In fact, they chuckled from the first appearance of Winifred Spencer's fainting heels to the last bow of Box and Cox.

ONE SAFE PROGRAM

Dr. Black of U. of M. Outlines the Best System to Meet Varying Conditions

What is the best program for growers of potatoes to follow this year? The answer is difficult. Even agricultural economists do not agree.

Because seed potatoes are relatively cheap in price a university extension service man of a nearby state is advertising potato growers to plant larger fields. The potato acreage should be increased in years when seed is cheap, he says, while in years when seed potatoes are high priced the number of acres should be kept down. The low price of seed is ordinarily followed by a relatively high market price in the fall, he says. A high price for seed means a low selling price in the fall according to this theory.

Dr. J. D. Black, chief of the division of agricultural economics, University of Minnesota, regards the rule laid down above as decidedly unsafe.

"There is only one safe program to follow in this matter," says Dr. Black, "and that is that each grower should determine as soon as possible a certain acreage of potatoes which fits into his farm organization in such a way as, year in and year out, assuming average yields and a trend in the prices of potatoes relative to the prices of other farm products, will secure for him the largest total net farm income. If it appears that prices of potatoes are rising relative to other prices over a period and acreages or yield have been declining relatively at the same time, then the farmer is in a position to decide that he should increase his own acreage. He cannot safely base his planning for another year on the price of potatoes the year before."

St. Francis Guild

There will be a meeting of St. Francis Guild on Wednesday, April 11th, at the K. C. Hall at 2:30.

The following ladies will entertain: Mrs. P. J. Oberst, Mrs. J. Nolan, Mrs. Kate O'Connor, Mrs. Nell O'Brien, Mrs. J. O'Brien, Mrs. Harry O'Brien, Mrs. Con O'Brien, Mrs. H. Poppenberg, Mrs. S. Peters and Mrs. R. Peterson.

Katherine
MacDonald and
Bryant Washburn in 'White Shoulders'

Star Gorgeously Gowned in "White Shoulders"

Katherine MacDonald's regal beauty is magnificently set off by a series of gowns that are said to be the last word in the dressmaker's art, in "White Shoulders," the First National attraction in which she is starred.

So numerous are these dazzling gowns that this photoplay may be said in all verity to be pretty much of a fashion review. Miss MacDonald's selection of gowns reflects the modern creations of American and French artists and in none of her previous pictures has this famous screen beauty been so stunningly garbed as in "White Shoulders."

Miss MacDonald, however, does not rely upon her beautiful dressing for her success in "White Shoulders" but contributes some notably fine acting to the role of a young girl whose mother has determined that she shall marry only a rich man, a fact which will be disclosed when this new First National attraction is seen for the first time in this city, at the New Park on Wednesday.

LOST REMBRANDT WORK
FAILS TO FIND BUYER

Minneapolis, April 10—Rembrandt's lost "Portrait of a Jew," valued at approximately $125,000 by its present owners, Henry Reinhardt & Son, Inc., New York, which has been in Minneapolis for a private view at the Radisson by art connoisseurs, is on its way back to New York.

Other pictures bringing the total to $500,000 also were exhibited, but whether sales were made here was not announced by Paul Reinhardt, F. A. Landeck and J. L. Gunsaulus, members of the Reinhardt firm accompanying the pictures.

The Rembrandt attracted considerable interest as it had been in America for less than a month. It was discovered in 1916 by a Berlin art dealer in the home of an obscure German clergyman, who had no knowledge of its value but nevertheless was paid a large sum for it.

Rembrandt's portrait of his sister, Lizabeth, a Tiepolo painting of Alexander the Great, a Maitre de Fleumalle, and Adrian Isenbrandt madonnas, a madonna group by Ambrosius Benson, and a Gilbert Stuart painting of Mrs. Luke White and her child also were shown.

A MORE PLEASING PROSPECT

THE world has passed through a period in which there was grave danger that some move on the part of one or more nations would light fires that would not easily be put out. It looks now as though that period had been safely passed and today the world looks upon a more pleasing prospect. Not yet are the problems arising out of the World war solved to such an extent that the world has the assurance of smooth sailing, but there are indications that the nations are approaching a rapprochement that promises security, prosperity and peace.

When French troops were sent into the Ruhr there was a wave of protest, because it appeared to be substantiated that in taking this attitude, France was herself violating one of the provisions of the treaty of Versailles, by attempting to enforce compliance with the terms of the treaty upon the German government. Because two wrongs do not make a right, idealists in all nations condemned the French policy, though they were destitute of any constructive plan by which French security might be guaranteed. In the conferences that preceded this movement of French troops into the Ruhr valley no constructive program was offered, for each nation, seeking its own advantage, was unwilling to submit any tentative proposal that might destroy the rewards sought by selfish interests. In making the move against Germany, France brought matters to a focus. The policy of meeting in futile conferences was ended, and France, by her initiative, brought about conditions that must soon lead to decisions by the other nations of Europe. Before the invasion of the Ruhr valley there was no evidence of any initiative on the part of other nations involved in the complex relations of Europe.

It seems probable that what appeared to be impasse will be cleared up as a result of the challenge of the Ruhr to the nations of Europe. The plunge made by France has led to an imperative demand that something constructive be attempted in Europe. The invasion has not won those results that certain French leaders expected, but it has placed France in a position to crush out any aggression on the part of Germany. With French troops in the Ruhr France is saved from the fear of a German attack.

It seems clear that some of the greatest French leaders are not in sympathy with the present occupation of the Ruhr, unless it promises more than the futile conferences of the past. Industrialists are not willing to allow the present policy to drain the resources of France without some promise of a corresponding benefit. Therefore, it is not surprising that the leading industrialist of France, Louis Loucheur, has been in England, seeking the cooperation of the British government in working out a plan that will bring about unity of purpose and program in Europe.

No nation situated as France is can afford to continue the expenditures of the Ruhr occupation, and industrialists have come to see that, if this occupation is continued, France will be unable to gain from Germany the amount necessary to pay the costs of the expedition, with any considerable balance for reparations. The economic issue is a live issue and in the end will determine the French policy. A nation cannot afford to bankrupt itself even for the purpose of protecting itself.

By focusing attention on the dangers to France, and the German government's failure to meet its obligations, the invasion of the Ruhr, whether it was undertaken from good or bad motives, has hastened the time when mutual understanding and co-operative endeavor will bring about security and peace in Europe.

AGRICULTURAL PROBLEMS ARE INTERNATIONAL

THE farmers of the United States are not the only farmers who are suffering because of the unsettled state of the world market. In England the problems are quite as perplexing as they are in this country. There agriculture is carried on very largely by tenant farmers or on large estates where proprietors employ many laborers. Taxes on these estates are high, and the price paid for produce is low, with the inevitable result that the farmers are unable to pay high wages to those who do the work on the land.

In Norfolk, the laborers are out on strike against any reduction of their paltry wages, and an interesting feature of this strike is found in the fact that the proprietors of the farms admit that the wages paid at this time are too small. They state that they must demand the reduction in wages because they cannot afford to pay the present scale of wages.

Just as in the United States the agricultural problem has been put up to congress and the legislatures of the several states, so in England the strike of the Norfolk laborers against a reduction of wage, when their employers admit that their present wage scale is too low, throws the problem over to the government which, when it assembles this week, must face this problem with the many other problems that are rocking England and have their origin in the disturbed economic order which prohibits the payment of adequate wages.

Legislation designed to assist the farmers of the world, that does not look to restoring the economic order, is but tinkering with grave problems. The law of supply and demand governs prices of agricultural produce. Of course, men sometimes interfere with the operation of that law. They attempt to control the supply, and at times deliberately destroy produce so that it will not be more than the demand, but they don't gain much through their manipulations; and attempts to secure agricultural prosperity that fail to look to increasing the demand for produce will not save the situation.

The first task before the governments of the world is that of getting the world back to normalcy, and that task will not be accomplished until it is attempted. Agriculture may be subsidized but someone must pay the subsidy. If doses to the unemployed, subsidies to the impoverished and energies, expended in tinkering with effects instead of attacking causes, were used to bring about the rehabilitation of the world order, there would be more hope for those who produce the food-stuffs in such quantities that the supply exceeds the demand made by a subnormal market.

STRIKES ARE COSTLY AND OFTEN FUTILE

SECRETARY OF LABOR J. J. DAVIS, whose experience has qualified him to speak on industrial questions, has appraised the strike as a weapon in industrial disputes, and this is what he has to say: "The tragedy of every strike, it seems to me, is that ultimately it is settled by negotiation or compromise. After men have been idle for months, after women and children have been brought down to the last crust of bread, the representatives of both sides get together around the council table and reach a settlement. They go back to where they were when the months of misery began, and in almost every case both worker and employer have lost by reason of the conflict. Instead of conference after months of industrial battle, I would have counsel before the strike is called."

The secretary's summing up of the strike is true to the experience of both workers and employers. There is seldom any gain, and even when a gain is won, the cost of the strike is so great that the gain is counter-balanced by the loss accruing from the strike. More and more, leaders of both capital and labor are coming to the conclusion that the strike and lock-out are not good weapons to use in industrial controversies, and there is reason to believe that under the influence of such a secretary of labor as J. J. Davis, who affirms that the twelve hour day and seven day week must go, and announces "that through the trade union and its eternal principles of right and justice, we can establish the era of good will in American industry," this goodwill is on the road to realization in industrial affairs in the United States. Capital and labor are gradually coming to the place where they realize that "he profits most who serves best."

THE man who was offered $300,000 if he would marry and settle down in Georgia was slow about accepting the terms. He didn't love either Georgia or a woman, but now he is going to try to endure both—for $300,000.

PROMINENT citizens of Minneapolis agree that about eight hours is the amount of sleep that a person should aim at, but they also agree that it isn't easy to find that much time to sleep in.

The first question asked when any two of more members of the Business & Professional Women's club meet is: "How are they selling?" meaning the tickets for the big movie benefit Wednesday and Thursday at the Park theatre. They are selling splendidly, but more must be sold before the girls reach their goal.

The picture, "White Shoulders," is a special one. Readers of the Saturday Evening Post have waited impatiently to following the thrilling action in this story, now given to millions through the screen.

Lovers of sport will find much to occupy their attention in "White Shoulders." Some of Kentucky's best horses are shown on the screen. Devotees of auto racing will enjoy the scene on the track where reckless Cole Hawkins, played by Bryant Washburn, first meets the beautiful heroine of the story.

All women (and most men) delight in pretty clothes, and through five reels of the picture Katherine MacDonald, the star, is attired in gowns of the smartest possible sort. Only once is she seen in any but the most up-to-date apparel. A fancy dress ball depicts the guests in costumes that reflect the styles of the early sixties. Here Miss MacDonald, as "White Shoulders," is adorable in an old fashioned costume of black tulle, with rare lace.

In addition to the picture a play "In 1999" will be given, well known Brainerd girls portraying the different parts. The Misses Hazel Robinson, Alice Johnstone and Anne Linnehan form a triangle of the life of the future. The play is a clever satire on modern life. It's a sparkling play, a splendid picture—a delightful evening's entertainment at a most reasonable price.

NEAR EAST RELIEF APPEAL STARTED

Mrs. E. P. Slipp in Charge of the Movement in Brainerd. Under Way Next Month

COLLECTION OF CLOTHING
To Begin May 1 and Continue to May 15th, Brainerd Donations to be Substantial

Preliminary plans for a state wide collection of clothing in Minnesota May 1st to 15th have been set in motion by Mrs. Wm. T. Coe, state director of the clothing campaign for the Near East Relief.

Already bundles of cast-off garments come into the Near East Relief office at 305 Oneida Building almost every day. Some are from Minneapolis, and some from other points in the state.

A special campaign last May yielded a total of 31,000 pounds of used clothes, which filled a big freight car and was forwarded to New York for shipment to the Near East. Railroads and steamships generously furnish free transportation, and the Navy Warehouse in Brooklyn handles and ships all N. E. R. consignments without charge. The old clothing contributions from Minnesota last year was rated worth $24,000.

"Constantinople has been called a city of rags and tatters," writes Mr. George D. White, formerly a secretary of the Civic and Commerce Association of Minneapolis, and now assistant director of Near East Relief in Constantinople. "More than 2400 American visitors have been here recently, and all were impressed by the pitiable condition of the refugees. The Near East Relief's stock of old American garments is all that stood between the populace and savagery in Armenia last year."

"Present indications are that the gift of clothing in Minnesota this year will double the gift of last year," says Mrs. Coe. "A committee is being organized in every town of the state to direct local effort, and much of the preliminary work is already done. All clothing is reckoned as worth 75c per pound, and this counts up fast on the state quota."

Since September the N. E. R. organization has assisted 916,000 people of the Christian races who have been driven out of their ancestral homes by the Turks. The Bishop of Smyrna estimates that 200,000 lives have been saved in this way, in his area alone.

Brainerd is already making plans to do its share in this good work. Anyone interested or having garments to contribute should call Mrs. E. P. Slipp who has been appointed to have charge of the work in our locality. Mrs. Wm. T. Coe authorizes us to say that all kinds of clothing are needed, and that shoes are especially acceptable; also that it is unnecessary to repair garments, as the native women are more than glad to do the work.

Let us all help to make the shipment from Brainerd a substantial one.

SEEK HOME FOR BABY

Child Welfare Board Hopes to Have Family Adopt Baby Boy Age Five Months

Has anyone a home for a five months old baby boy? The Child Welfare Board has the baby, and is anxious that some good family adopt it, where it will have a good home and the right kind of rearing.

This baby comes from a family that is above the average, according to the Board, and has a very good lineage behind him. Any who may be interested in the little fellow are asked to communicate with Miss Newman at the office of the county superintendent of schools.

The Welfare Board is also anxious to place a 15-year old girl with some family where she can work for her board and room while attending school. This girl is very capable with housework for one of her age, and will be of real assistance to anyone who can make a home for her during the balance of the school year.

Miss Newman will be glad to go into details concerning either of these cases and it is hoped that both will find good homes in the near future.

WOODHEAD TWIN TWISTER COMPANY

May Soon Graduate Into the Big Business Class of the Nation

JOHN F'S INVENTION DESCRIBED
Choke and Gasoline Supply is Combined for Adjusting Carburetor From Dash

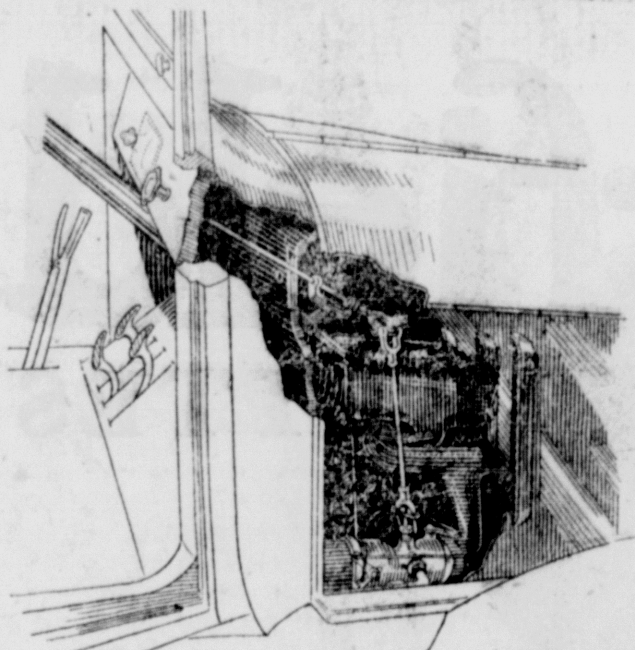

Very little has been said concerning the Woodhead Twin Twister Company, an organization, which though it started in the humble way that has characterized many of the largest industries of the country, is now gaining proportions that are most gratifying, and which will put it in the "Big Business" class in the near future, if present records are any criterion.

The Woodhead Twin Twister is a Ford accessory for controlling and adjusting the carburetor from the dash. It combines the choke and the gasoline supply in one instrument, greatly facilitating the handling of the car.

It was invented by John F. Woodhead and his brother, Richard of Minneapolis, who have secured a patent on the article and began offering it for sale a little over a year ago.

The business has been slowly built up by extensive advertising, first in a Ford dealers trade magazine, with such gratifying results that the company was encouraged to extend its efforts along this line.

Small trial orders were received from dealers in all sections of the country, and in nearly every case these trial orders have resulted in large repeat buying, until last fall the first big order for 500 was received from Roland & Koch, of Los Angeles, California.

The Woodhead Twin Twister

As an example of how a good thing is often assisted, the Stewart-Warner Company of Chicago, makers of the famous Warner speedometers, became interested in the Twin Twister, which encouraged Mr. Woodhead to the extent that a large advertising campaign was inaugurated this winter, and ten thousand Ford dealers in the United States were circularized and educated to the advantages of the Ford accessory.

The next step was the opening of an office in the Security Bank Building, Minneapolis where all advertising matter is put out, files kept on prospects, etc.

The Brainerd office, however, will continue to be the headquarters for administration and shipping. The city is well advertised in this connection, since the pastboard containers carry the name "Brainerd" in large letters, as does also the knob of the Twin Twister itself as it is mounted on the dashboard of the car.

A special department for handling the Twin Twister has been installed at the office of the Woodhead Motor Company, a portion of the showroom on south Seventh street having been partitioned off for this special purpose.

BABCOCK BUYS OUT HIS PARTNER

Junior Member of McGinn & Babcock Purchases Interests of Henry McGinn

Mr. Babcock Also Buys Lot Near Dispatch on Which He Will Build Later

A deal was made on Monday, whereby Lee Babcock takes over the interest of his partner, Henry McGinn, and with his brother Lyman Babcock, will conduct the Cash Meat Market and Grocery at the present location, 219 South Sixth street.

Mr. Babcock has had about twelve years experience in the meat business in Brainerd, working in this department of the O'Brien Mercantile Co., for seven years previous to going into business with Mr. McGinn in September, 1913.

McGinn & Babcock originally conducted their business as a cash and carry market, but this plan was discarded about a month ago, and complete delivery service installed, which will be continued by the new management.

In addition to purchasing Mr. McGinn's interest, Lee Babcock has also taken up the McMahon contract for the lot joining the Dispatch property on the south, on which stand the buildings formerly occupied by the Husted & Scallen Hat shop and later the Twin Lantern Cafe, and the shoe shining parlor.

It is Mr. Babcock's intention to build on this property at some future date, although no plans have been made as yet for this.

Mr. McGinn has not stated his intentions as to what he will do. He has lived in Brainerd for the past forty years, and spent most of this time in the meat business. He is also chief of the local fire department.

Concordia Society

The Concordia society of the Bethlehem Lutheran church will meet this evening, Tuesday, in the church, entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Louis Johnson. A good program will be rendered to which you are cordially invited:

Recitation—Kathleen Samuelson. Musical selection—String Band Quartette.

Piano solo—Gerold Halvorsen. Vocal solo—Rudolph Lindberg.

Address—W. C. Cobb, superintendent of schools.

Vocal solo—Jennie Beck.

Presbyterian Aid

The Ladies Aid of the First Presbyterian church will meet on Wednesday, April 11th, and will be entertained by Mrs. C. B. Peterson, Mrs. F. Russell and Mrs. M. E. Morrison, at the home of Mrs. Peterson, 818 7th street South.

Final arrangements for the supper and sale to be held on Saturday April 14th at the Odd Fellows hall will be made at this meeting.

All members are urged to attend Wednesday's meeting, and to bring in all articles for the sale booth at that time.

NEAR EAST RELIEF APPEAL STARTED

Mrs. E. P. Slipp in Charge of the Movement in Brainerd. Under Way Next Month

COLLECTION OF CLOTHING To Begin May 1 and Continue to May 15th. Brainerd Donations to be Substantial

Preliminary plans for a state wide collection of clothing in Minnesota May 1st to 15th have been set in motion by Mrs. Wm. T. Coe, state director of the clothing campaign for the Near East Relief.

Already bundles of cast-off garments come into the Near East Relief office at 305 Oneida Building almost every day. Some are from Minneapolis, and some from other points in the state.

A special campaign last May yielded a total of 31,000 pounds of used clothes, which filled a big freight car and was forwarded to New York for shipment to the Near East. Railroads and steamships generously furnish free transportation, and the Navy Warehouse in Brooklyn handles and ships all N. E. R. consignments without charge. The old clothing contributions from Minnesota last year was rated worth $24,000.

"Constantinople has been called a city of rags and tatters," writes Mr. George D. White, formerly a secretary of the Civic and Commerce Association of Minneapolis, and now assistant director of Near East Relief in Constantinople. "More than 2400 American visitors have been here recently, and all were impressed by the pitiable condition of the refugees. The Near East Relief's stock of old American garments is all that stood between the populace and savagery in Armenia last year."

"Present indications are that the gift of clothing in Minnesota this year will double the gift of last year," says Mrs. Coe. "A committee is being organized in every town of the state to direct local effort, and much of the preliminary work is already done. All clothing is reckoned as worth 75c per pound, and this counts up fast on the state quota."

Since September the N. E. R. organization has assisted 916,000 people of the Christian races who have been driven out of their ancestral homes by the Turks. The Bishop of Smyrna estimates that 200,000 lives have been saved in this way, in his area alone.

eat Kellogg's each day—at least two tablespoonsfuls, in chronic cases with each meal. Its mechanical action will afford permanent relief.

And, you will find Kellogg's Bran a delight to eat because it is so delicious. As a cereal, sprinkled on other hot or cold cereals, or used in countless bakery batches or in cooking, its nut-like flavor will thrill your appetite—and each spoonful means so much in permanently relieving constipation and in warding off this gravest national ailment. Kellogg's recipes are printed on each package.

Start the entire family eating Kellogg's Bran to-day. See the color come back to faded cheeks; see the snap that will go into lagging steps. Kellogg's Bran is wonderful. All grocers sell it!

On Monday the Woodhead Company received an order for one of these Twin Twisters from Rev. H. C. Gibbens, M. D., a missionary stationed in Mongnai, Burma, practically half way around the world from Brainerd. Rev. Gibbens stated in his order that he saw the advertisement in the "Ford Dealer" a trade magazine, and immediately decided that the "Twister" was exactly what he needed.

It is easy to predict that the Woodhead Twin Twister Company will expand rapidly at the rate it is now growing, and that it will be only a short time before it becomes one of the large industries of this city.

RICKEY STANDING PAT WITH THE CARDS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, April 10.—It is probable that the good people of St. Louis are still hoping for a National League pennant. They have been hoping for three years, and game fans never give up. So, under the circumstances, it will not be a disappointment if the Cards fail to come through in the 1923 pennant race, as they have become habitual failures.

Last spring a great many good baseball judges picked the Cardinals to beat out the Giants for the National League pennant. They not only failed to win the league championship, but they were crowded out of second place by the fast-finishing Cincinnati Reds and almost squeezed out of the third hole by the resuscitated Pirates.

It is impossible to explain the reason for the flop of the Cards last year without entering into a criticism of the managerial methods of Branch Rickey and, for the same reason, it is equally impossible to make an accurate forecast of what the club will do in the coming pennant race.

The loss of McHenry, a star outfielder, who was ill all season and who died after the season had closed, and the utter collapse of the pitching staff, were two apparent causes for the failure of the Cards after they had been worked up to their top form and first place in the latter part of July.

The brain malady which came upon McHenry was a very bad break, both for the player and the club, and it was something over which Rickey had no control, but the poor work of the pitchers was attributed by several of his players as being due to very poor judgment of their manager.

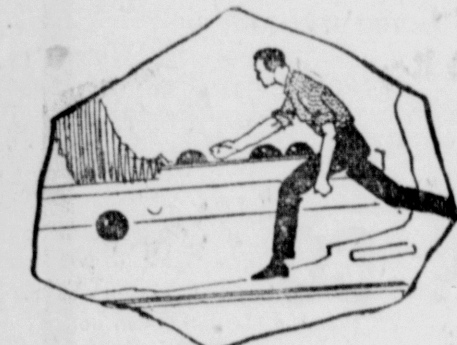

The players also criticized Rickey for using McCurdy, a young catcher, behind the bat in several critical games; for benching Fournier and using Bottomly, a rookie, on first base, and for using another rookie, Blades, in the outfield, when he had more experienced players on the bench.

It must be admitted that Rickey knows baseball, and that if the critics among his players knew as much as he did that they would not be players. But, on the other hand, the evidence tends to indicate that the players might have been at least partially right in their criticism.

Rickey, at various times, has held himself up as the outraged victim of the money demon, who helped the New York Giants win pennants. Several seasons ago, when the Giants were reported to have offered $200,000 for Rogers Hornsby, Rickey said that he would never sell a great ball player and neither would he buy one.

For this reason the Cards have not been strengthened since the close of the last season. Even down to the Athletics and the Phils, most of the major league clubs opened their purse-strings last winter and went after ready-made products. Rickey still goes along with the idea that he can develop young players, and you can count up on your fingers the young players who have been developed by major league clubs since the war.

FRANK & JAMES SQUAD WINS CITY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP

Final Standings	G	W	L
Frank & James	36	20	16
Smraker	36	19	17
Alderman-Maghan	36	17	19
Study Club	36	16	20

With a one game lead over Smraker's tribe of maple destroyers the Frank and James five won the City League championship last night in a hard fought battle with the Study Club. The Frank & James lads lost the first game by a score of 836 to 754, and, with a tie for first place in sight the battle got exceedingly interesting. But the Study Club fell down to 754 in the second fray and lost by 68 pins. The final setto was close until the last frame, the score being 851 to 803, with Frank & James on the long end, thereby winning the championship by the close margin of one game.

The match between Smraker's and Alderman-Maghan was hardly interesting, only two men showing up for the hardware clan, giving Smraker's three easy decisions. Smraker pierced the pocket for high three game score with a total of 572 while Zierke chalked up 231 for high individual score. High team score also went to Smraker's with 2616.

UNUSUALLY HIGH TOTALS CHALKED UP AT CONGRESS

Milwaukee, April 10.—Repeated shattering of world's records in three of the four events, scoring of unusually high totals and the display of better bowling than has ever been seen in a congress meet, featured the twenty-third annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress, which ended yesterday afternoon.

New records were established in the five-man, doubles and all-events. The Nelson-Mitchell aggregation of Milwaukee led in the team event with a total of 3,139.

F. Wilson and C. Daw, members of the champion Nelson team, hung up a new record in A. B. C. meets for doubles competition when they totaled 1,358, bettering the record established in 1917 by G. Satorius and W. Holzschup, of Peoria, by 12 pins.

W. Knox of Philadelphia, the only man that has ever scored a perfect game in A. B. C. competition, which he accomplished at Toledo in 1913, leads the all-events with a new world's record of 2,019.

C. Baumgarten, of Cincinnati, is in the top position in the individual event with a total of 724, falling five pins short of the world's record.

Yesterday's bowling was without feature, none of the players reaching

SOUTHERN MINNESOTA LEAGUE TO REORGANIZE

Faribault, April 10.—A meeting of southern Minnesota representatives that is expected to bring about the formation of a southern Minnesota baseball loop league will be held here Wednesday, April 17, at the Chamber of Commerce.

A call has been issued by John Andrews, secretary and treasurer of the Faribault baseball club to representatives of Owatonna, Adams, Blooming Prairie, Waseca, Austin, Albert Lea and New Richland. All these were members of the league last year.

Rochester will be extended a special invitation to be at the meeting, and it will be strongly urged to enter a team in the loop.

Both a six and eight team league will be proposed.

DIAMOND RINGS FOR GIANTS AT OPENER

New York, April 10.—The opening game of the Giants at home on April 26 will be a significant event for the members of McGraw's world championship squad. Before the team takes the field against the Boston Braves the victorious players in the world series of last year each will be presented with a diamond ring, emblematic of the second triumph of the team over the Yankees in baseball's annual classic. Commissioner Landis is expected to make the presentations to the players.

RICKEY STANDING PAT WITH THE CARDS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, April 10.—It is probable that the good people of St. Louis are still hoping for a National League pennant. They have been hoping for three years, and game fans never give up. So, under the circumstances, it will not be a disappointment if the Cards fail to come through in the 1933 pennant race, as they have become habitual failures.

Last spring a great many good baseball judges picked the Cardinals to beat out the Giants for the National League pennant. They not only failed to win the league championship, but they were crowded out of second place by the fast-finishing Cincinnati Reds and almost squeezed out of the third hole by the resuscitated Pirates.

It is impossible to explain the reason for the flop of the Cards last year without entering into a criticism of the managerial methods of Branch Rickey and, for the same reason, it is equally impossible to make an accurate forecast of what the club will do in the coming pennant race.

The loss of McHenry, a star outfielder, who was ill all season and who died after the season had closed, and the utter collapse of the pitching staff, were two apparent causes for the failure of the Cards after they had been worked up to their top form and first place in the latter part of July.

The brain malady which came upon McHenry was a very bad break, both for the player and the club, and it was something over which Rickey had no control, but the poor work of the pitchers was attributed by several of his players as being due to very poor judgment of their manager.

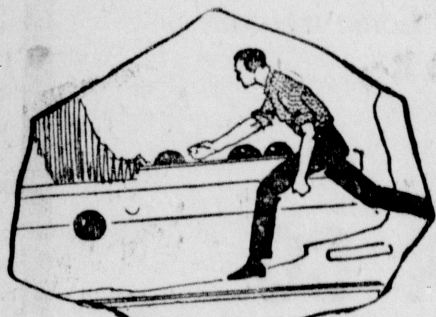

The players also criticized Rickey for using McCurdy, a young catcher, behind the bat in several critical games; for benching Fournier and using Bottomly, a rookie, on first base, and for using another rookie, Blades, in the outfield, when he had more experienced players on the bench.

It must be admitted that Rickey knows baseball, and that if the critics among his players knew as much as he did that they would not be players. But, on the other hand, the evidence tends to indicate that the players might have been at least partially right in their criticism.

Rickey, at various times, has held himself up as the outraged victim of the money demon, who helped the New York Giants win pennants. Several seasons ago, when the Giants were reported to have offered $200,000 for Rogers Hornsby, Rickey said that he would never sell a great ball player and neither would he buy one.

For this reason the Cards have not been strengthened since the close of the last season. Even down to the Athletics and the Phils, most of the major league clubs opened their purse-strings last winter and went after ready-made products. Rickey still goes along with the idea that he can develop young players, and you can count up on your fingers the young players who have been developed by major league clubs since the war.

BOWLING NOTES

FRANK & JAMES SQUAD WINS CITY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP

	G	W	L
Frank & James	36	20	16
Smraker	36	19	17
Alderman-Maghan	36	17	19
Study Club	36	16	20

With a one game lead over Smraker's tribe of maple destroyers the Frank and James five won the City League championship last night in a hard fought battle with the Study Club. The Frank & James lads lost the first game by a score of 836 to 754, and, with a tie for first place in sight the battle got exceedingly interesting. But the Study Club fell down to 754 in the second fray and lost by 68 pins. The final setto was close until the last frame, the score being 851 to 803, with Frank & James on the long end, thereby winning the championship by the close margin of one game.

The match between Smraker's and Alderman-Maghan was hardly interesting, only two men showing up for the hardware clan, giving Smraker's three easy decisions. Smraker pierced the pocket for high three game score with a total of 572 while Zierke chalked up 231 for high individual score. High team score also went to Smraker's with 2616.

UNUSUALLY HIGH TOTALS CHALKED UP AT CONGRESS

Milwaukee, April 10.—Repeated shattering of world's records in three of the four events, scoring of unusually high totals and the display of better bowling than has ever been seen in a congress meet, featured the twenty-third annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress, which ended yesterday afternoon.

New records were established in the five-man, doubles and all-events. The Nelson-Mitchell aggregation of Milwaukee led in the team event with a total of 3,139.

F. Wilson and C. Daw, members of the champion Nelson team, hung up a new record in A. B. C. meets for doubles competition when they totaled 1,358, bettering the record established in 1917 by G. Satorius and W. Holzschup, of Peoria, by 12 pins.

W. Knox of Philadelphia, the only man that has ever scored a perfect game in A. B. C. competition, which he accomplished at Toledo in 1913, leads the all-events with a new world's record of 2,019.

C. Baumgarten, of Cincinnati, is in the top position in the individual event with a total of 724, falling five pins short of the world's record.

Yesterday's bowling was without feature, none of the players reaching
